It is quite evident that family law proceedings are stressful and heartbreaking and specially when children are involved. If you are willing to apply for a divorce on either of the following basis: a) No fault Divorce b) Divorce on the basis of unreasonable behavior c) Divorce on two years separation with consent d) Apply for divorce if you partner has deserted you e) Apply for divorce on 5 years separation f) Apply for divorce on the basis of adultery

In addition to that if you have children and you want to initiate contact with your children then you must file a C100 application at the family court but prior to that you have to go through to the mediation.

If physical violence is involved then you may possibly able to obtain a supervised contact. Contact us: www.asherandtomar.co.uk No: 02088677737
