Managing the airline's global operations and long-term business plans is a major responsibility of the Air France Corporate Office. It is in charge of customer relations, operational planning, aviation safety, and worldwide relationships as the headquarters of one of Europe's top airlines. Supporting Air France's worldwide network while upholding strict service and efficiency requirements is the corporate office's responsibility. Additionally, it organises organisational policies, corporate initiatives, and business development projects that support the airline's ongoing expansion and success in the global aviation sector.
