Course description:

The Family and Divorce Mediation course is designed to provide participants with the skills and knowledge necessary to effectively mediate family disputes and divorce cases. This comprehensive course covers key aspects of mediation, including communication techniques, conflict resolution strategies, and the legal framework surrounding family law. Students will learn how to facilitate productive discussions between parties, address emotional and financial issues, and work towards amicable agreements on matters such as custody, support, and property division.

This course prepares mediators to handle complex family dynamics and foster collaborative solutions, ultimately helping families navigate challenging transitions with empathy and professionalism.
